The Governor issued the following Proclamation:

Whereas, The people of the State of Missouri, by their delegates in convention assembled, did, in an ordinance providing for certain amendments to the Constitution, passed on July 30th, 1861, declare the offices of Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, and members of the General Assembly vacated, and did, in conformity with said ordinance, appoint, provisionally, a Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and Secretary of State, "to continue in office until their successors are elected and qualified, or until the qualified voters of the State disapprove the action of said Convention;" and whereas, the people, in convention assembled, as aforesaid, did further ordain, that "on the first Monday of November, 1861, a Governor, Lieutenant Governor and Secretary of State, and members of the General Assembly, shall be elected by the qualified voters of this State, to hold their offices during the term for which the (then) incumbents of said offices were elected;" and

Whereas, An ordinance concerning the repeal and abrogation of certain laws, and for other purposes, (ordered by resolution to be published in the several newspapers of the State,) said Convention did also ordain that certain acts of the General Assembly, passed in secret session, and approved, respectively, on the 11th, 14th and 15th of May, 1861, "be and are hereby repealed and declared of no effect or validity, whatever;" and

Whereas, It was further ordained, that at the election provided to be held as above recited, the action of said Convention should be submitted to the people for their approval or rejection, votes upon which should be "For the action of the Convention," or, "Against the action of the Convention," the majority to determine whether the persons chosen shall or shall not enter upon the discharge of the duties of the offices, respectively, for which they may be elected, and whether the action of said Convention shall or shall not continue in force.

Now, Therefore, I, Hamilton R. Gamble, Governor of the State of Missouri, do, in conformity with said ordinances, hereby direct and command the Sheriffs of the Counties, respectively, of the State, to cause notice of the time and place of holding said election within and for the county of which each respectively is Sheriff, to be given in accordance with the provisions of the general law, the election to be conducted in the same manner, in all respects, as is now provided by the election laws of this State, and at the places prescribed in said ordinance; and it is commanded that the returns be also made in conformity with said ordinance.

In testimony whereof, I have hereto set my name and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the State of Missouri: Done at the City of Jefferson this third day of August, A.D. 1861; of the Independence of the United States the eighty-sixth, and of the State of Missouri the forty-first.

J. R. Gamble

By the Governor:

M. Oliver,

Secretary of State.

The Governor also issued the following Proclamation:
To the people of the State of Missouri:
Your delegates, assembled in convention, have decided that, in order to vindicate the sovereignty of the State, it was necessary to vacate the offices of Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, and members of the General Assembly, and to order an election to take place on the first Monday of November next to fill those offices with persons of your own choice. They have ^{chosen} me to discharge the duties of Chief Magistrate until that election can take place.

No argument will now be made in support of the action of the convention. An address has been issued to you by that body, in which are set forth the necessities for the action, and the power under which they have acted. I could give you no stronger expression of my deliberate judgment that their action was both constitutional and necessary than is afforded by my acceptance of the office until the election can take place.

The choice thus made of temporary or provisional Governor will satisfy all that no countenance will be afforded to any scheme or to any conduct calculated in any degree to interfere with the institution of slavery existing in the State. To the very utmost extent of Executive power that institution will be protected.

The choice of temporary Governor gives the further assurance to all that every effort will be made to stop the practices on the part of the military which have occasioned so much irritation throughout the State—such as arresting citizens who have neither taken up arms against the Government nor aided those who are in open hostility to it, and searching private houses without any reasonable ground to suspect the occupants of any improper conduct, and unnecessarily seizing or injuring private property. Such acts must be, and will be discontinued, and there is every reason to believe, from a general order recently issued by Lieut. Gen. Scott, and from the known disposition of Major General Fremont, whose command embraces Missouri, that such oppressive conduct on the part of the military will, in a short time, be arrested.

There exists in many parts of the State a most unfortunate and unnatural condition of feeling among citizens, amounting to actual hostility, and leading often to scenes of violence and bloodshed, and even neighbors of the same race have come to regard each other as enemies. This feeling, too, has originated in questions of a political character, although the American mind has been accustomed to consider a difference upon such questions as affording no cause of hostility. Combinations have been formed for carrying out schemes of violence by one class against another, and by those holding one set of opinions against others holding a different set.

Civil Government in this State has no concern with men's opinions, except to protect all in their undisturbed enjoyment. It is only when they become the carriers of acts that they bring those who entertain them into any responsibility to the law.

While this freedom of opinion is the right of all, and while it is the duty of each to respect this right in others, it is plainly the duty of the Government to suppress, as far as practicable, all combinations to violate this right, and all violence arising from a difference of opinion. Yet it is important that every well disposed citizen should remember, that the extreme and intemperate exercise of this right of expressing his opinions often leads to unnecessary discord and violence, and that refraining from the intemperate discussion of topics known to be exciting would be but a slight contribution made by each toward the preservation of the general peace.

It is believed that many citizens are now in arms, assembled under the proclamation of Governor Jackson, of the 12th of June, and that they responded to that call from a sense of obligation to obey State authority. They have been organized as a military force under an act of the General Assembly, known popularly as the "Military Bill."

By the action of the Convention that act has been annulled, all commissions issued under it have been revoked, and the organizations which have been formed have been disbanded.

Those who have taken up arms from a desire thus to obey State authority, will see that real obedience to that authority, will be shown by at once quitting the organizations with which they are connected, and returning peacefully to their homes. This applies as well to officers as to privates in such organizations.

It is known that there are large quantities of powder and other ~~ammunitions~~ munitions of war concealed in different places in the State, intended to be used by those of the citizens who are in arms. This is the property of the State, and ought to be disposed of to free the State from the debt incurred by its purchase, so far as the proceeds of its sale will have that effect. Information of its deposit ought to be given to this Department, so that it may be recovered and applied to the indebtedness of the State.

The militia of the State has not an organization as efficient as it should be. The Convention, by ordinance, adopted the act of 1859, in place of the Military bill of the last Assembly. It is necessary that there should be a complete organization under the act thus adopted by the Convention. Immediate attention to this duty is demanded by the condition of the country. Yet it is to be the act of the citizens who are willing to form bodies of volunteers.

The State has been invaded by troops from the State of Arkansas, and a large force under General Pillow, of Tennessee, has landed upon the soil of Missouri, notwithstanding the Congress of the Confederate States, in their act declaring war against the Government of the United States, expressly excepted Missouri, as a State against which the war was not to be waged.

General Pillow has issued a proclamation, addressed to the people of Missouri, in which he declares that his army comes at the request of the Governor of this State, and says they will help us to expel from our borders the population hostile to our rights and institutions, treating all such as enemies, if found under arms. It remains to be seen whether General Pillow, and other officers of the Confederate States, will continue their endeavor to make Missouri the theatre of war upon the invitation of Governor Jackson, or of any other person, when such invasion is contrary to the act of the Confederate States, and when the invitation given by the Governor is withdrawn by the people. We have sought to avoid the ravaging our State in this war, and if the military officers of the Confederate States seek to turn the war upon us, upon the mere pretext that they are invited by a State officer to do so, when they know that no officer of the State has authority to give such invitation, then upon them be the consequences, for the sovereignty of Missouri must be protected.

There should be, on the part of the people of Missouri, a paramount purpose to preserve the internal peace of their own State, whatever may be the condition of affairs in other States. Our first duties are at home. If there could be a general recognition of this principle, the duty of preserving peace would be less onerous upon the magistracy of the State. But all will admit that, however unpleasant it may be, the duty of preserving the peace must be discharged by those upon whom the law imposes it. The means furnished by law are ample and must be employed.

Combinations to oppress citizens and deprive them of their civil rights, because of any opinions they may hold, are flagrant

3 offenses against law, and unworthy of the inhabitants of a free Republic. It must of course be expected that the power of the Government will be employed to subject all members of such combinations to the penalties imposed by law.

If those citizens who, at the call of the late Governor, have taken up arms, choose to return voluntarily to their homes, to the peaceful pursuit of their occupations, they will find in the present Executive a determination to afford them all the ~~security~~ in his power, and there is no doubt entertained that they will be unmolested.

And now, people of Missouri, may not the hope be entertained that you will afford a cordial cooperation in an attempt to secure a return of peace. But a few months since you were prosperous, and happy in the enjoyment of all your rights, civil and political. If you have suffered already great loss, anxiety and distress - if you live in constant apprehension of coming evil - in uncertainty about all that is future - you can see how terrible are the consequences of a violent attempt to overthrow an established government, which has heretofore afforded peace, prosperity, protection and equal rights to all. It is but the part of wisdom to bear evils which are known to be endurable, rather than encounter such as plainly will befall this people if peace be not speedily restored.

Now, therefore, I, Hamilton R. Gamble, Governor of the State of Missouri, in view of the foregoing facts, do hereby strictly charge and enjoin upon all sheriffs, and other magistrates who are conservators of the peace, to use all the powers conferred upon them by law in arresting and bringing to punishment all persons who disturb the public peace, by using violence against any of their fellow-citizens, and especially are you charged to bring to justice all who combine to practice violence against other persons on account of their political opinions; and if force should be employed to resist you in the discharge of your duties to an extent that you cannot overcome by the means provided by law, you are charged to make known that fact to this department, that proper measures may be taken in such case.

It is enjoined upon all citizens that they perform the duty of giving information of deposits of munitions of war belonging to the State, that they may come to the possession of the State without being captured by the troops of the United States.

It is further enjoined upon all citizens of suitable age to enroll themselves in military organizations, that they may take part in the defense of the State.

~~All citizens who are embodied under~~ the act of the last session of the General Assembly, popularly called the "Military Law," are notified that the law has been abrogated, the troops disbanded, the commissions issued under it, as well as the commission under the act of the same session for the appointment of a Major General, have been annulled, and all soldiers and officers are enjoined to cease action in a military capacity.

The officers and their troops belonging to the Confederate States who have invaded Missouri are notified that it is against the will of the people of Missouri that they should continue upon the soil of this State, and that their continuance in Missouri will be considered an act of war, designed to bring upon our State the horrors of war, which Missouri desires to avoid. They are therefore notified to depart at once from the State.

Nov: 6th A Proclamation,
By the Governor -

The affairs of States and of individuals are alike under the Superintendence of Divine Providence, and it is becoming that as a people we should render to the Supreme Ruler suitable acknowledgements of our dependence upon Him and suitable expressions of our thankfulness for the blessings He has conferred upon us during the year.

Although man's madness may have brought incalculable evils upon our State, we may contrast the evils thus produced with the beneficent results of a kind Providence acting for our good -
We have heard the "confused noise," 1862.

of battle and "saw the garments rolled in blood," while he has had still the tempest, the whirlwind, the earthquake the ministers of his wrath.

We have seen the mother, the wife, the sister, clad in the garments of mourning and we know that man had brought the war while he held back the "pestilence that walketh in darkness" and tempered the atmosphere to the preservation of our lives and health.

We have seen man wasting and destroying while He points us to the rich harvests which He has given and calls us to praise Him "for his goodness to the children of man."

Let us then praise Him with thankful hearts and express our joy that He reigns, and that He has been merciful to us amidst the calamities which man has brought upon us, and let us rejoice for the assurance that He will even "cause the wrath of man to praise Him."

In view of the multiplied blessings conferred upon us as a people by Divine Providence, I, Gamble B.
 Gamble, Governor of the State of Missouri, do appoint Thursday the 17th day of this present month of November, as a day of Thanksgiving to God for His goodness manifested to us during the year - and I do earnestly recommend to the good people of the State to assemble on that day in their respective places of worship, and present to God the homage of grateful hearts in view of His abounding goodness and in return
 His protection for the future.

L. S.

In testimony whereof I have hereto set my hand and caused the great seal of the State to be affixed this 16th day of November in the year of our Lord One thousand, Eight hundred & Sixty Two.

Jefferson City

April 15: 1865—

The subject of emancipation has now for some time engaged the public mind, and it is of the highest importance to the interest of the State, that some scheme of emancipation should be adopted.

The General Assembly at its late Session, being embarrassed by Constitutional limitations upon its power, failed to adopt any measure upon the subject of emancipation, but clearly indicated a wish that the Convention should be called together to take action upon the subject.

Therefore, I, Hamilton S. Gamble, Governor of the State of Missouri, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Convention, do hereby call the said Convention to assemble at the Cap-to be in the City of Jefferson on the fifteenth day of June next, then and there to convene and act upon the subject of emancipation of slaves and such other matters as may be connected with the peace and prosperity of the State.

In witness whereof, I have here to set my hand, and caused ~~the~~ the Great Seal of the State to be affixed.

A Proclamation by the Governor.

Many evil disposed persons are now engaged in endeavoring to produce disaffection towards the State Government with the avowed purpose of overthrowing it by violence, if they shall be unable to accomplish their end by other means. They endeavor to attract other citizens to their support by the circulation of most unfounded statements and misrepresen-tations. Among this class of persons are to be found men who bear about with them commissions from the State Government and many who have obtained notoriety only by the favor of that Government, while others of them have been removed from office and still others have been refused office by that Government.

So far as the ends which they seek, can be effected by means conforming to the constitution, and the laws, through the expression of the people with no objection can be made to any change in the Government which the people may desire to make, but the proclaimed purpose of effecting it by violence, demands that the people should be put upon their guard against a scheme which may result in the complete ruin of the State.

In order to excite the public mind, they have resorted to the circulation of the most extraordinary falsehoods in relation to the purposes and conduct of the State Government.
They accuse the State Government of disloyalty to the United States, while they know, that the present Executive performs his functions at a time, when the authority of the Federal Government in the State was in the utmost danger.

and the lives and fortunes of its friends were in the greatest peril.

They know, that he called for forty two thousand men of the militia to be used against the rebel disturbers of the peace of the State.

They know, that he hastened to Washington to obtain arms and the means of maintaining the force that answered to the call.

They know, that directly afterwards he went to Washington and effected an arrangement with the President to raise a permanent force to serve in the State during the war as State Militia.

They know, that he raised that force to several thousand men, beyond the number Congress would agree to pay, and was therefore compelled to produce it.

They know, that this force has rendered valuable service against the rebel enemy in this State.

They know, that under the constitution and laws, he issued an order for the enrollment and organization of the entire loyal militia of the State, and that he expressly prohibited the organization of men who were disloyal.

They know, that from time to time, he has called into active service large numbers of this militia, to be used in the suppression of the rebellion in this State.

They know, that he ordered the organization of Provisional Regiments by detaching companies from the body of the militia of "known loyalty and efficiency", while they have pretended to believe that these Regiments were designed to be used for some disloyal purpose.

They know, that they were placed under the command of the Major General Commanding this Department.

They know, that when the late Commanding General of this Department called for assistance, the Executive gave him two Regiments of militia to aid in repelling a rebel invasion.

They know, that when it became his duty to communicate to the Legislature of the State, certain resolutions of the Legislature of Delaware, forming an armistice and negotiations with the rebels, he accompanied them, with a Proclamation, which was adopted by the Legislature as a response to the Delaware resolutions in which it maintained that under the Constitution the controversy with the rebel States could only be settled by the sword.

Other facts equally notorious, and equally significant might be referred to, but the foregoing are sufficient to render it impossible that any sane man can believe the Executive of this State disloyal to the United States.

These men, seizing upon the desires that have existed throughout the State, for the emancipation of slaves, have represented the Executive as opposed to the popular will, and hostile to emancipation. As he called the later Convention to assemble in June last, to consider and adopt a plan of emancipation they represent his action, as designed to thwart the will of

Yet they know that the Senate passed a resolution requesting him to call the Convention, and that the Senate passed a bill for the call of a new Convention provided the old Convention did not assemble and adopt a plan of emancipation prior to the first of July, and that this bill was defeated in the House of Representatives by parliamentary tactics. They know that in his Message to the Convention he expressly declined to recommend any particular plan of emancipation, but urged the body to harmonize as far as practicable upon the difficult points that belonged to the measure. They know that as a member of the Convention, he avowed his determination to have some plan of emancipation adopted so far as his efforts could effect it.

They know that as a member he proposed to terminate slavery in 1867, and yielding to the wishes of others, he supported a proposition to terminate it in 1866.

They know that in Convention he voted against the proposition to exempt slaves from taxation.

Yet with all this knowledge, they endeavor to inflame the public mind against the State Government by falsely representing the Executive as endeavoring to defeat the public will, by trick and artifice!

They accuse the Executive of sympathy with Guerrillas and Bushwhackers, yet they know that the order which he issued for the enrollment of the militia, and which was published in the papers was made because of the existence of guerrillas in the State and expressly declared that "the existence of numerous bands of guerrillas in different parts of the State, who are engaged in robbing and murdering peaceable citizens for no other cause than that such citizens are loyal to the Government under which they have always lived, renders it necessary that the most stringent measures be adopted to punish all such crimes and to destroy such bands."

Then the order proceeds to direct the enrollment. They know that while the Executive gave no countenance to the cold blooded murder of men upon mere suspicion of being connected with Guerrillas, and while he always recognized the danger of leaving the lives of unarmed men to the summary disposition of the soldiery, without investigation let the innocent and the guilty should be indiscriminately destroyed. Yet there has been no order issued, word uttered, or act done by him, with the intent of screening real Guerrillas from punishment.

While acting thus upon principles which must regulate every civilized Government he is now represented by these conspirators as sympathizing with the very criminals he was endeavoring to have punished.

These men make industrious efforts to impress upon the public mind the idea that the present Executive persistently holds on to power which he has usurped. They know that the power which is now exercised rests upon precisely the same foundation as that which was exercised when the Provisional Government was established, which is the will of the people, as expressed by their delegates in sovereign Convention, and if that power is now usurped, it was so from the beginning of the Provisional Government; and consequently Claiborne & Jackson was Governor of the State up to the day of his death, and all appointments made by the present Executive are subject to question: --

They know also, that the present Executive endeavored to disest himself of the office, and only consented to retain it at the request of the representatives of the people. The truth these never has been a day since he accepted the office when he would not have gladly given it up if in the opinion of those whose judgment he was bound to respect, he could have done so consistently with the public safety.

The only design of this paper, being to guard the unwary against being led by the artificers of these designing men, into false positions, in relation to the State, which may involve them in danger, it is impossible, within any reasonable limit, to notice the innumerable false accusations, which have daily issued from a corrupt and malignant press, for many months past. Those which have been noticed above, and which are most important, may be taken as fair specimens of the correctness of all.

It may with propriety be repeated, that no objection is here intended to be suggested to any change in their Government, which the people may think proper to make by peaceful means in accordance with the Constitution and laws, but it is intended to warn all persons against any attempt to effect a change by means of violence.

The principle that every Government is bound to protect itself against violence, is the principle upon which this Federal Government is engaged in suppressing a great rebellion and is applicable as well to the State Government.

Our State Constitution prescribes what shall be treason against the State, and our Statutes fix the penalty at death or long imprisonment in the Penitentiary. There can there be traitors against the State as well as against the Federal Government.

In all treasons the masses engaged are misled by the arts and falshoods of a few designing leaders, and it is most earnestly desired that all the good people of Missouri shall be on their guard against all artifices which may lead them to their ruin.

It is earnestly desired to avoid the spectacle of a social war on this American Continent, and that the people of a free country may exercise all their rights under the Constitution, and the laws without being hindered by violence, so that at last we may be able to furnish an example of a people capable of selfgovernment.

To the end, therefore, that all the good people of the State may be guarded against being involved in conspiracies or combinations for violence and that all persons

To exercise their own rights freely, and I Hamilton R. Gamble, Governor of Missouri, while entreating the people to abstain from all unlawful combinations amongst themselves, and from all unlawful combinations amongst them that the oath which binds me to see the laws are faithfully executed leaves me no choice as to the employment of all the forces I can command to sustain the laws, preserve the peace of the State, and punish those who disturb it. And I do admonish them that as the highest political right of a citizen is to vote at elections, any interference, especially by the military, with the right of the qualified voters, to vote for whomsoever, they please will be regarded as an offense of the greatest magnitude.

With the earnest hope that Providence will guard us against the terrors of anarchy, and that we may long continue to enjoy social order, and that the blessings civil political and religious, which God has bestowed upon us, I commend the contents of this paper to the careful consideration of all citizens of this State.

In Testimony whereof I have hereto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed this 12th day of October.
 One Thousand Eight Hundred and Sixty Three, and the Independence of the United States the Eighty Eighth.
